

I believe that it would be wrong for the FCC to implement a proposal that would diminish the protection now offered by Indiana's current Telephone Privacy Law. Since the law went into effect, our telemarketing calls have decreased from 25-35 per week to no more than two per week. Privacy of this sort is important to us. The Indiana law should provide the minimum basis for any national telephone privacy law.